RURAL ELECTRIFICATION ADMINISTRATION

PROGRESS BULLETIN
GENERAL - NO. 56

JULY 6, 1938

FOR RELEASE IN MORNING PAPERS
THURSDAY JULY 7, 1938

PAMPHLET COLLECTION

★ JUL 12 1938 ★

The Rural Electrification Administration today announced allotments totaling $11,229,200 for 66 rural power projects in 18 States and Puerto Rico. This money, together with the $1,785,000 allotted earlier for 10 projects but not available until the beginning of the fiscal year, launches the expanded REA program which the Congress authorized for the 1938-39 fiscal year.

As soon as long term loan contracts have been executed, the funds allotted will be used by the project sponsors, largely cooperative organizations of farmers, to build about 13,500 miles of rural electric distribution lines which will make electric service available to more than 40,000 farm families and rural churches, schools, and stores which have been without its benefits.

Labor and industry have a major stake in the projects which these allotments will build. Experience shows that the $13,014,200 of loans will be matched by an approximately equal expenditure by the farmers themselves for house wiring and electrical appliances, increasing the total of industrial, commercial and employment activity to approximately $26,000,000. The total employment required to provide the materials for the rural lines which today's allotments will construct, and to build the lines themselves and wire the houses taking service, is estimated at 14,500,000 man-hours, exclusive of employment in equipment and appliance manufacture.

Construction of the power lines will require some 2,800,000 man-hours of direct labor in the project areas. The lines will use approximately 36,000 miles of copper, aluminum and steel wire, which will take nearly 2,200,000 man-hours to make. The 40,000 meters and 26,000 transformers will provide another 1,500,000 man-hours. Lumber producers will have a market for 275,000 poles which require over 1,000,000 man-hours. Transportation of materials from factories and treating plants will require more than 2,000,000 car-miles.

Each of the farmsteads connected to lines which today's allotments will construct must be wired, which means that some 40,000 wiring jobs, each costing $50 to $300 or more, will be distributed among local wiring contractors in small towns throughout the area. As soon as service is available the customers will be in the market for radios, refrigerators and other electrical appliances. The new markets for industrial products which new rural lines create are continuing markets; experience shows that purchases of electrical equipment by farmers continue for many years.

Under the Rural Electrification Act of 1936, the Congress appropriated $40,000,000 for rural electrification loans during the 1938-39 fiscal year. In addition, in the Works and Relief Act the Congress provided that REA might lend another $100,000,000 of Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds, making a total of $140,000,000 of loan funds available during the current fiscal year.

Each of the projects for which funds are allotted has been studied on the ground by a field representative of REA. Signed customer service contracts have been obtained from the prospective customers. The money allotted for these projects will be available as soon as the sponsoring organizations perfect their organizations and execute the necessary legal documents. It is expected that many of the lines will be completed and in service within a year.
